Rebus® Labor Planning gives you the ability to predict your future labor needs, as well as real-time insight into progress against your planned labor.

With agnostic Labor Planning, you can read historical data from Rebus Intelligent Labor or any other LMS so you can forecast your staffing goals effectively. The future of the warehouse is real-time. Quit relying on spreadsheets and a hunch.

Don't Work in the Dark

The Labor Planning module for Rebus gives you the ability to accurately forecast your future labor needs and to see the progress made against your planned work in real-time. This gives you the critical edge needed to adjust your staffing schedule, avoiding wasted time and money.

Bring Your Data into Focus

You can't wait days or weeks to get visibility into how your labor planning affects your productivity. And all the data in the world is worthless unless you understand it. Because Labor Planning is part of the Rebus system, you can always customize your widgets, so the data is always easy-to-read. Less guessing, more work getting done.

Forecast Future Needs Based on Historical Data

Keep historical data easily accessible. Most solutions only give you 1 or 2 months of data before archiving it. Then it's barely usable. Labor Planning not only stores your data longer, it also keeps it accessible so you can identify previous patterns and reliably forecast your future labor demands and costs.
